

a). Pitch a new software project.

Consider the website you were assigned for studied(Twitter.com)
Imagine a new software project in the same general domain. It might be a website, or a software product or service. State a name for your project, and write a descriptive pitch (max. 100 words), stating the connection with the website you chose, and emphasize the purpose and benefits of your proposed new project.